

HILBERT PREDICTS 6,500 POLL

Today

Good News, Generally.

Senator Nye, in a Hurry.
Bigger Than Finance.By ARTHUR BRISBANE.
(Copyright, 1929, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

BIG news was the announcement by the United States Steel Corporation that it had purchased the Columbia Steel Corporation, biggest organization on the Pacific coast.

It is important news for the steel industry, and particularly important for California, and all the Pacific coast states, when the big steel concern in the world, hitherto confined to Chicago, Pittsburgh, Gary and Birmingham, Ala., reaches into the great West, moving from Atlantic to the Pacific.

The purchase of the Columbia Company, with its annual capacity of 340,000 gross tons of steel ingots, shows the wisdom of modern industry.

Under antiquated methods, big steel would have moved to the Pacific to fight Columbia Steel and "try to put it out of business." Instead, the power and intelligence of the big steel company, directed by Chairman Myron C. Taylor, and President Farrell, will be concentrated on making steel, not devoted to fighting somebody else or paying doubly for a double overhead.

Mines in Utah will supply ore for United States Steel Pacific coast plants for the present.

Later, hydro-electric power from the Columbia River may take the place of coal, if the experts develop, as they hope to do, steel production by electricity, which will mean a saving of heat, and production of pure steel of a quality hitherto never made in quantities of the "pure iron" of the Damascus blade.

SENATOR NYE, of North Dakota, wants Wall Street and "all speculation sifted." What's more, he wants a remedy ready by February 1.

That's a short time for so big a job.

THE Malay, in his breech cloth, looks on proud red Indian piles up his shirt and blanket, betwixt them on a pony race, standing in dignified nudity.

TWO ways of getting something. One is to work, the other is to gamble.

Ninety per cent of human beings prefer the gambling way.

That will be changed a good deal later than February, 1, 1930.

THURSDAY'S most important financial news, nothing to do with Wall Street, tells you that New Jersey, first among the states, has absolutely wiped out the gypsy moth.

Gov. Larsen and the State Agricultural Department are to be congratulated on a fine achievement.

MORE money than Wall Street could lose in a dozen panics would be saved if science could eliminate agricultural pests—the boll weevil, corn borer and the rest of the lot.

EXCELLENT news comes from Florida as to the success of that state in dealing with the Mediterranean fruit fly. It has been a costly battle, but worth the money and trouble.

SAMUEL INSULL and other big employers, following the example of Julius Rosenberg, supply money to protect employees from losses in stock speculation.

Henry Ford wouldn't agree with that idea. Two years ago, when this writer mentioned certain stocks in which there were bound to be heavy losses, Ford said: "Of course, but that's the only way people can learn."

Whether it is wise not to let nature take its course in gambling as in other things is questionable.

LILLIAN FOSTER, American actress of character, didn't like what the British critic, Hannen Swaffer, said about her.

Seeing Mr. Swaffer at the Savoy hotel, she slapped his face twice. Swaffer is "amazed at his own calmness under the circumstances."

LILLIAN FOSTER used the oldest form of criticism, the sort that babies use on their nurses. Mr. Swaffer says: "I called the head waiter and said: 'Throw this woman out.' This was done." The critic had compared Miss Foster's voice with a ventriloquist's doll, criticizing her American accent.

MAN KILLS SON, THEN TAKES GAS

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—(INS)—Michael Ruthkowsky, 43, is dying in Bellevue hospital today from gas, self-administered, after he had killed his five-year-old son, Matthew, by beating him on the head with a hammer.

Labor Chief O. K.'s Hospital Levy

POTTERS' HEAD ASKS APPROVAL OF TAX PLAN

Attorney B. H. Cochran Gives Vitaphone Address.

THEATER TALKS
Hospital Makes Tests For Transfusion Of Blood.

Organized labor gave its approval to the proposed three-fourth mill hospital tax last night when James M. Duffy, president of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters, speaking at the American theater, urged support of the levy at next Tuesday's election.

Blood Tests Made.
Duffy was one of three speakers who appeared in theaters in behalf of the proposal. Attorney Blaine H. Cochran appealed for support of the measure in a Vitaphone address from the motion picture booth at the Ceramic theater. Attorney S. W. Crawford was the speaker at the State theater.

To meet cases of emergency where transfusion of blood is necessary to save a patient's life, arrangements have been made at the hospital for a series of blood tests for younger members of the police force and fire department. It was announced today. A record of tests of men who are available for blood transfusions will be kept at the hospital.

Consent to this plan has been given by Mayor Benedum, Service-Safety Director Moore and Chiefs McDermott and Bryan of the police and fire departments, respectively.

Compensation Provided.
Members of the two departments whose blood is approved, will be compensated for each transfusion that they are called upon to undergo. Because of the excellent physical condition of firemen and policemen, they volunteer for transfusions in many of the larger cities. The tests here are in charge of Dr. Edward Miskall, city health commissioner.

Human blood is divided into four different classes. When a transfusion is necessary to save a life following an accident or a serious operation, the blood must be taken from a person whose blood is the same type as that of the patient. In some cases the blood of a relative is not suitable for transfusion. To provide for these emergencies, firemen and policemen will be available.

CHURCH CLASS HEARS Y. M. C. A. BOYS' LEADER

E. M. Carlton Speaks At East End Dinner.

50 ARE GUESTS
Second Presbyterian Unit Gives Musical Program.

E. M. Carlton, boys' secretary of the Y. M. C. A., was the principal speaker last night at the banquet of class No. 12 of the Second Presbyterian church, Virginia avenue. H. D. Brookman, president presided. Places were reserved for 50.

Musical selections were given by a quartet composed of Oliver Johnson, Stanley Rose, F. Wesley Davis and Robert Raffle, with Jacob Shenkle at the piano.

The dinner was served by Mrs. Edward Lee, Mrs. F. Wesley Davis, Mrs. R. W. Henderson, Mrs. Allen Calhoun, Mrs. F. E. Horger and Mrs. W. E. Brown.

Carlton's Address.

Carlton said in part: "Some think in handling a group of boys that it is necessary to have a firm grip upon them—that one must compel them to do things if they do them at all. That only one of a few of punishment can they be made to do things. This method is not permanent in results. To understand a boy is necessary to speak in the boys' language and a boy's phraseology. The vocabulary which the adult understands is different from the boy's language."

To maintain a calmness in dealing with a boy is the best method. This is a difficult matter to do. Calmness is a fair way to deal with a boy. It is best not to scold him or to criticize a boy before strangers.

"To share with the boys in their experiences as in working around the home or in the camp. Boys like responsibility, but they like to share it with their parents. A common mistake of adults dealing with boys, also, is that they are loath to answer the questions of boys."

"Boys are inquisitive—always asking questions, so parents must have patience, be wide-awake to answer the queries of boys. We cannot hold ourselves aloof if dealing with boys. They may know (Continued on Page 8, Col. 2.)

LISBON, O., Nov. 2.—H. N. Harker, East Liverpool pottery manufacturer, was named defendant in a suit for $20,000 damages filed in common pleas court today by Mrs. Lena Woods, in behalf of her 7-year-old son, Albert, for injuries sustained in an automobile accident in West Eighth street, East Liverpool, on August 4, 1928.

GIRL MURDER VICTIM'S BODY FOUND IN EAST

Two Tots Uncover Skeleton at Woodbury, N. J.

SKULL IN PAPER
Police are Baffled by New Death Mystery.

WOODBURY, N. J., Nov. 2.—(INS).—The skeleton of a girl about 8 years of age was found today in a clump of bushes at the intersection of Grove and Jersey avenues in a little traveled section of National park by two 11-year-old girls. The terror-stricken girls, Margaret Rink and Genevieve Maguire, reported the discovery to a passerby who told the police.

Chief of Police Joseph Schaeffer of National park investigated and discovered besides the skull which the girls had seen several other bones of the skeleton wrapped in a sheet and Camden newspapers of June 9th last. They were covered with lime. Schaeffer advanced the theory the girl had met death at some other spot and the body had been thrown into the bushes where the bones were found to hide the crime.

20 Radio Stations Go Off Air Today

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—(INS).—Twenty radio stations in various sections of the country automatically went off the air today when they failed to file applications for renewal of licenses with the federal radio commission.

The commission also announced changes in assignments to clear up interference in the Midwest. Station WDAF, of Kansas City, was authorized to operate on 610 kilocycles with full time. Station WOQ, of Kansas City, was changed from one-seventh time on 610 kilocycles to two-seventh time on 1,290, to divide time with station KPH, of Wichita, Kansas.

CENSURE VOTE ASKED MONDAY

Senator Norris Defers Action on Bingham Condemnation.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—(INS).—Postponing immediate action because of the absence of senators, Senator Norris (R.) of Nebraska, this afternoon served notice on the senate he would demand a vote Monday on the resolution of censure against Senator Hiram Bingham (R.) of Connecticut, for his employment of a paid lobbyist during the tariff hearings.

The resolution would condemn Bingham's employment of Charles L. Eyanson, manufacturers' agent, as "contrary to good morals and senatorial ethics."

The announcement by Norris meant the issue of meeting out punishment to Bingham would be settled Monday, since the resolution is of the highest privilege and will supplant all other parliamentary business until the final vote is taken.

P. candidate for mayor, declared. "We have made a clean campaign and await the verdict of the voters full of confidence for success."

"We are very well satisfied with the situation," said Mayor R. C. Benedum, Democratic nominee for mayor. "We have made a thorough canvass of potteries and a majority of the homes and have every assurance of a victory."

WAGGONER, Ill., Nov. 2.—(INS).—Five rear coaches of the Illinois Central "Diamond Special" were derailed early today and a dozen persons injured, two of them seriously, when the rails spread at a point between here and Litchfield.

Mrs. Ida Judd of St. Louis and Charles Henderson, negro porter of Chicago, were the most seriously injured of the 12 victims. Many suffered scratches and minor bruises. Eight or ten passengers were said to have been cut and shaken up severely enough to require medical attention.

Only One Highway Detour in County

All detours in Columbiana county except one, that being on the Youngstown-East Liverpool road, have been removed, the state highway department, Columbus, announced in its weekly bulletin issued today.

The Youngstown-Petersburg road from the Columbiana county line north for a distance of five miles is closed for improvement. A nine-mile detour is being maintained around the improvement. Another Cleveland-East Liverpool road where a span across the Port Wayne railroad tracks is being built about three miles northwest of Salem. One-way traffic is being maintained on Route No. 7 through Stratton and Empire in Jefferson county.

A plea in abatement and a motion for suspension of judgment filed by defense counsel were denied by the court. Defense counsel immediately notified the court that an appeal would be prepared. The original bond of $1,000 for each of the defendants was extended 30 days.

The two women are Mrs. Carrie Vitantonio, Democratic clerk, and Miss Marie Rosenblatt, employee in the county treasurer's office and judge in the primary. They were sentenced to the state reformatory for women at Marysville.

The four men were sentenced to the Ohio penitentiary. They are Anthony Tanno, Democrat and presiding judge; John Valentino, Republican clerk; Nick Di Lillo, Republican judge, and Dan Ramclati, Democratic judge.

Vote for Delaney for school board. He's qualified.—Pol. Ad.

Stevenson, Benedum Awaiting Verdict of Voters On Tuesday

Interest Centers in Mayoralty Fight, With Five-cornered Board of Education Contest And 14-man Race for Liverpool Township Trustee Places Sharing Attention.

CITY HOSPITAL AND FREE GARBAGE COLLECTION LEVIES WIN FRIENDS

Election Chieftain Appeals to Women to go To Polls During Morning and Early Afternoon Hours to Avoid Congestion When Pottery Workers and Others Visit Booths.

Prediction that 6,500 votes would be cast in East Liverpool at next Tuesday's township and municipal election was made today by James S. Hilbert, chief deputy of the board of deputy state supervisors.

Interest, Hilbert said, appeared to be centered in the two-man mayoralty race, the township trustee fight in which 14 candidates are entered, the five-cornered school board contest and the proposed state tax limit amendment and City hospital and free garbage collection levies.

"Both candidates for mayor have conducted active campaigns," Hilbert said. "Each of the 14 candidates for township trustees has his own circle of friends. The school board fight is also attracting attention. Organizations backing the proposed state tax limit amendment and the proposed hospital and the garbage collection levies have also been active, and having a tendency to bring out the voters."

Eyes on Judd, Benedum, Stevenson.

Mayor R. C. Benedum, Democrat, is nominee for the mayoralty, while the fight for the two board of education places is among O. C. Delaney, Edwin L. Goodwin, Miss Florence Updegraff, John W. Vodey and Dr. Joseph T. Williamson. Attorney Harry Brokaw, who received the Republican nomination for municipal judge in the August primaries, is opposed on the non-partisan ballot by Attorney G. Jay Clark.

The 14 candidates for the three Liverpool township trustee posts include the incumbents, Joseph Anderson, N. P. Kerr and A. U. Richardson, all seeking another term, and the following: John F. Butler, Jacob S. Cook, Robert Haller, George E. Keller, John T. McBane, Robert M. Newell, W. W. Perry, A. Claude Smith, George C. Smith, William A. Steele and Benjamin Ziegler.

Early Voting Urged.
The Republicans have nominees for every municipal office while the Democrats have no aspirants for city treasurer, city solicitor, clerk of municipal court and councilman in the second and fourth wards.

The election board chieftain urged that housewives visit the polls between 9 and 11:30 a. m. and from 1 to 3 p. m., leaving the early morning, noon and late afternoon hours open to employed persons. By doing this congestion in the voting precincts will be avoided, he explained.

The polls will open at 6:30 a. m. and close at 6:30 p. m.

Van Fossan is Rally Speaker.
State representative W. H. Van Fossan, Lisbon, explained the proposed state tax amendment at the final Republican rally in G. O. P. headquarters, Broadway, last night. He also urged the election of the entire Republican ticket.

More than 150 party leaders and workers attended the rally. D. F. White presided in the absence of Willis Davidson. Committeemen reported their precincts covered with the sample ballots and platforms issued recently.

Talks were made by R. B. Stevenson, mayoralty nominee, S. E. Burgess, nominee for president of council, J. L. Chambers, nominee for councilman at large, and other candidates. J. Goode and Ernest Foster spoke as representatives of the colored voters. Mrs. Ila Marshall Cronin and Mrs. Mary Carwood headed the Women's Republican club delegation and also spoke briefly.

Selections were given by the Log Cabin colored quartet of Wellsville.

LEARN TO FLY THE RANKIN WAY

Making boys and men fit for aviation in its many branches, thru the Rankin System, is our business. Statistics show that Aviation employs seventeen men in the various branches, from the factory to the field, for every pilot in the air. No known industry ever developed as fast as Aviation is developing.

The Rankin System of Flying Instruction is the national university of the air, embracing more than sixty leading aviation schools from coast to coast which are teaching hundreds of students how to fly the Rankin way.

Rankin students learn aviation at established and reliable flying schools in their own community. They win their way to the finest positions in the industry because they have had thorough training in Aviation, Engines, Airplane Maintenance and Repair, Theory of Flight, Navigation, Aerology and allied subjects. Their credentials are accepted at any flying field in America. As Rankin graduates they are recognized as competent, airworthy pilots from the nation's largest and best known flying service.

Awaiting Verdict

Major party nominees seeking political preferment and proponents of state and local issues, which will be submitted, virtually closed their campaigns today and now await the verdict of the people at the polls next Tuesday.

East Liverpool will elect all municipal officers from mayor to ward councilman and, with zones in Liverpool township, select a municipal court judge and clerk and three trustees and clerk, and, with the southwest precinct of St. Clair township also given a voice, name two members of the board of education. In addition, judgment will be passed upon two taxation proposals in the city proper, while all electors shall be given the privilege of expressing their opinion on proposed state tax limit amendment.

Township, judicial and board of education candidates seek recognition on non-partisan ballots. In the municipal fight, the Republican ticket, headed by Robert B. Stevenson, nominee for mayor, deserves support.

The people, too, will decide what kind of a hospital they shall have, for they will vote upon a proposed three-fourth mill levy for maintenance of the institution. Approval of the plan will mean erection of a four-story addition to the hospital, as well as the installation of equipment to place it on a plane with other hospitals in the Ohio Valley. The issue merits a "for" vote.

There is much to commend the proposed free collection of garbage, for which a half-mill tax is asked. This plan should prove more satisfactory than the present system and at the same time should mean a saving in expense.

And, too, East Liverpool and Ohio are expected to vote "yes" on a proposed state tax limit amendment, the purpose of which is to correct inequalities of present taxation and to make available tax funds that are not now obtainable.

Voters have had plenty of time to study the qualifications and the pro and con of the special proposals. It is now up to them to go to the polls and express their convictions.

Underestimating Mentalities

Mrs. T. G. Winter, of Minneapolis, former president of the General Federation of Women's clubs, who has been chosen to act as a link between the motion picture industry and the women of the land, says that she is "much more concerned in trying to reform the movies of stupidity than immorality," which will be very generally accepted as indicating that she has diagnosed the trouble from which the movies are suffering in a manner as sensible as it is refreshing.

Although Mrs. Winter is employed by the producers, she was selected for the duties she is to undertake at a gathering of club women, educators, psychologists, church people and movie producers assembled in New York City recently at the instance of the movie interests.

Mrs. Winter told representatives of the press that she is not going out to Hollywood as a censor, or even a critic, nor is it her purpose to act as an evangelist for the "woman's viewpoint," for the reason that, as she sees it, there isn't any woman's viewpoint. "It's all bosh," she said, "that women's minds are different from men's. What men want in movies, women also want." It's her view that the interests of the two sexes are pretty much the same; saying that women are more practical than men and less dependent. "Women are no more concerned with love than men. It's just as vital to the happiness of men as it is to women. Men can be successful without it, but not happy."

Expressing the belief that the movies are getting away from the sentimental, rapid type of heroine, the result of the ushering in of the talkies, which call for personality in heroines, not mere prettiness, Mrs. Winter said:

"You know I think movie producers until recently underestimated the mass of people. I think that the 'common people' have more astuteness than the intelligentsia, who usually have a few pet formulas they think by and insist on judging everything accordingly."

"No classic has even been made a classic by anything but the taste of the common people. No work of art has even been perpetuated by the judgment of the highbrows."

There will be very general agreement with this Minnesota woman's view that the producers have underestimated the intelligence of their patrons, that they have turned out their productions in the fear of going over the heads of movie audiences. As a matter of fact, so great has been their concern in this respect that the utter stupidity of some of their offerings has aroused the criticism and often the risibilities of the youngsters. Say what you will of the youth of America, it is right up to the minute in its views on life and the affairs of life, but the producers do not seem to have realized that fact any more than they have realized that the average movie audience is far and away in intelligence above the average production they have offered it.

HASKIN LETTER DAILY

By Frederic J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 2.—The manner in which that American invention—advertising in a big way—has been taken up by various nations should be regarded as one of the latter day wonders of the world especially since the most modern American improvement, that is, use of the air for exploitation, is being imitated on such a large scale. The latest example has been witnessed by the people of the United States in the feat of the Russian fliers in bringing their mammoth plane, The Land of the Soviets, to this country.

This example is the more interesting in that it represents a bold attempt at a quite generally admitted one, to advertise one of the most unpopular things in the world today, Russian socialism. Doubtless the flight will have the effect of causing a great many additional people to be a little more curious about the people of modern Russia and how they live.

Col. Lindbergh's flight across the Atlantic was hailed as a good-will flight and he followed it with good-will flights all over the United States and then to several of the Latin American nations. French fliers, Italian fliers, Spanish fliers made good-will flights. Then came the impressive good-will flight of the Bremen westward across the Atlantic and finally the tremendous good-will gesture of the Graf Zeppelin in crossing the Atlantic to this country and then circumnavigating the globe.

The people engaging in these aerial advertising stunts on a world scale have a less commercial name for the practice but the purpose is no different. The advertising voyage of The Land of the Soviets was called a good-will flight. So were all the other similar advertising stunts in the air.

In a sense this voyage of the Russians was almost as adventurous as a trip to Mars. The first attempt started from Moscow on August 8 last. The Land of the Soviets was flown 3,500 miles—a distance equal to that from New York to San Francisco—when, in a dense fog, the plane struck a tree in the wilderness near Lake Baikal. The crew escaped and reached Irkutsk, finally making its way back to Moscow. The second start was made, again from Moscow, on August 23.

The vast Siberian wilderness was crossed successfully. This is the greatest and loneliest stretch of territory in the world. The fliers found small outposts for stopping places but the flights were across untracked forests where time and wolves still roam and hunt, across lakes which are uncharted. Smoke clouds from forest fires dimmed their vision and stunk their eyes.

At length Nikolaevsk, the last outpost of continental Siberia, was reached. The engines were overhauled and pontoons substituted for wheels in preparation for the venture across the sea! Then The Land of the Soviets took wing across the North Pacific, traversing the distance from Kamchatka to Attu, the westernmost of the Aleutian Islands in seven hours, the distance being 750 miles. This is the most adventurous sea in the world.

In this sea-mother and a terrific September gale The Land of the Soviets rode the waves near Dutch Harbor until an adventurous boat from the United States Cutter Chelan beat its way out to her. The plane was moved to a buoy and the fliers landed. Again the plane dove into the closing fog and made a landing. On October 3 the fliers took off for Seattle. But, beaten by storm and blinded by fog, they were forced down at Waterfall on the west coast of Prince of Wales Island. One motor went dead as they landed. Two of the crew stayed with the plane while the other two made their way on foot 12 miles to Craig. Repairs were effected and Seattle reached. Everything was easy sailing from then on, the visits to various American cities being swallows' play.

The United States navy department gave every possible assistance to the adventurers. The North Pacific fleet was ordered to keep in touch with the plane whenever it was possible to maintain communication by radio. The United States coast guard in Alaska gave aid and an escort of Navy planes welcomed the Russian fliers to Seattle.

The good-will flight was sponsored by the Osaviakhim, or Society for the Promotion of Aviation and Chemistry, the principal air organization of Russia. The plane is an enormous monoplane with two huge motors. It was designed and made in Russia.

The East Liverpool Review Offers 100 Recipes For Cooking Meat

Most cooks find it difficult to vary the meat courses. They prepare and serve, over and over again, the five or six meat dishes that have become standard in the family menu.

To these housewives the meat booklet will prove especially interesting. Besides giving 100 recipes it tells how to select meat cuts, gives general rules for the cooking of meat, contains charts showing the various cuts and a time and temperature table.

Send six cents in coin or stamps to cover postage and handling cost on your copy.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—This is the story of two princes of royal blood and one of those American good fellows—a rich bachelor who knocks about queer corners of the globe. He met them at a dinner party in France several years ago. They had the appeal of high-minded young men whose blood ran swift.

Descending from a truly royal family of noble lineage, but suddenly impoverished, they were, as usual, unable to make a living. They had polished manners, were as agreeable as two Newfoundland puppies, and possessed all the amiability of the natural and royal mochers.

The nobles had dreams of America and had their dreams of rehabilitating the family household. They had heard, too, it was pretty soft for any sort of princes, grand dukes and even for some of the scormatic offal of a decaying aristocracy. But they were broke—stony!

This is where the rich bachelor came in. They confided their ambitions. They knew something of oil through the wells that had been drilled on their vast estates in more prosperous times. The bachelor operated oil properties in the southwest. And he gambled on the princelings.

They were staked to a student cabin on a liner, furnished with railroad transportation and a sum of money to last them until they landed overalls in the oil field. Cast among the hurly burly of seasoned workers, their metal proved so much slag. Their hollowed nervous temples throbbed with despair. Oh, dear!

About the only form of manual labor they ever accomplished was carrying silk parasols over pretty ladies at Biarritz. They buckled under the strain of a rough world and became whiners, then cadgers. They even gyped a faithful old darkey assigned as a servant. They then went Hollywood!

Handsome and bearing family crests, many doors in the movie colony opened. They wooed and won two reigning beauties and lived high until discarded. "I got as even as I could," said the bachelor, "when the young nobles sailed home again in the steerage."

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention is Worth a Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland

Not long ago I told you about the importance of free passage of the air through the nasal cavities. It is not good for health to practice mouth breathing. The nose was planned by kind Nature to warm and cleanse the inspired air.

Many persons do mouth breathing, not because the nasal passages are not free, but from sheer laziness. They make no effort to keep the mouth closed.

This is an unsafe practice. It permits the cold air, filled with dust, dirt and bacteria, to scrape its way across the delicate breathing organs into the shivering air cells.

All this is wrong. The air should be breathed through the nostrils, to be heated by the rich blood supply and to be filtered clean by the hair-like processes of the cells covering the mucous membrane of the nose. If the nose is stopped up all the time, find out why. The doctor, after his examination, will advise you what should be done to restore the nose to its normal use. You cannot hope to be a perfectly healthy person unless the nose is clear and working all the time to cleanse and warm the air.

After the air is taken through the nasal passages, it goes through the back of the mouth and goes from the throat into the windpipe. The windpipe is a round tube, running from the throat into the chest. Now it divides into two branches, called the bronchial tubes. One of them runs to the right lung and the other to the left lung.

Each of these tubes divides and redivides into smaller and smaller branches. The arrangement is much like that of a tree with its top downward.

At the tip of each of the smallest tubes are groups of air cells. These are set on the ends of the tubes, much as the grapes are clustered on the end stalks and stems of the bunch.

The walls of the air cells are extremely thin as it is, packed with tiny blood vessels. In consequence it is possible for the oxygen of the cells to pass through the thin walls into the blood itself. Then it is carried to every part of the body.

Let us review the travels of the air we breathe. It passes through the nose, where it is warmed and cleansed, through the back of the mouth and throat, into the windpipe. Then it goes along the bronchial tubes and small divisions in the lung cells. From there the oxygen gets into the blood, to do its work, among other things, of preparing the food for the proper use of the body.

Hoover at His Best.

The president has never appeared to better advantage than in the addresses which he has made recently. Doubtless the chief reason is that the subjects with which he dealt have long engaged his professional interest. About them his mind plays freely, and then he writes on them his style is lucid and effective. Speaking at the Edison celebration, he turned easily from the immediate event, which he characterized felicitously, to a brief discussion of the place which laboratories and scientific research have come to play in our national life, bound as they are to assume larger importance year by year. Such ideas came naturally and gracefully from one who has devoted so much time and energy to seeking room and opportunity for pure science in American education.

At Louisville last week Mr. Hoover took up a problem with which he has an even more profound acquaintance. Long studies of transportation by water, together with his experience and successful labors in connection with the great Mississippi flood, have given him unquestionable authority in the matter of the proper development of our internal waterways. One has only to read his address at Louisville to perceive his firm grasp of the question, which he looks at as a whole, together with his mastery of the technical details. The president looks forward to an entire system of inland transportation by river, coordinated, controlled, extended wherever a commercial or agricultural profit can be demonstrated, not destructively competitive with railroads, but supplementary to them, constituting a great national asset of which we have only begun to realize the potentialities. Not before since he became our first engineer president has Mr. Hoover displayed to his fellow countrymen so full a measure of his special talent when applied to a vital concern of the nation.—New York Times.

ANNIE LAURIE'S TIMELY ADVICE

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am very unhappy because I have fallen in love with a young man about eight years my senior. The trouble is he doesn't seem to care for me. Instead he loves a friend of mine who introduced us. Many times I have been embarrassed by having my friend see me staring at him. I have tried to forget him, but when I see him I seem to forget everything and everybody. My friends say she doesn't care for him, but I always feel uneasy when they're together. What shall I do to prevent myself from staring at him? I am sixteen years of age.

SAD SIXTEEN: You are too young to think about love at all, or to be sad. Most likely the young man has too good sense to take more than a friendly interest in one so young. Enjoy the pleasant company of your girl friend and forget about other things. It is rude and most unladylike to stare at anybody.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl in my early teens who is deeply in love with a young fellow. We broke up two months ago on account of his jealousy for me. I have never gone with another fellow since he left me and do not care to. But Annie Laurie, please tell me do you think I ought to; I am quite sure that he still loves me. When I was with him I was always talking of other fellows. Now, Annie, is there any way you think I can win him back? For I love him so. His birthday is coming; do you think I should send him a card?

BROKEN-HEARTED: If you constantly talked to your friend of others, it is not surprising that he became jealous and ceased his attentions to you. Write him a note and tell him how deeply you regret the circumstances that caused you to quarrel, and that you will see that such an unfortunate thing does not occur again. It would be quite in good taste to send him a card on the anniversary of his birthday.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

Will you please answer this question:

If a young girl has been brought to meet a young man who is with his family and she knows the family, would it be proper for her to say that she is glad that she met him? Or would it be a breach of etiquette? PERPLEXED.

PERPLEXED: A young lady does not tell a young man that she is pleased to meet him, on being introduced to him. By her pleasant and polite manner to his family, the young man will soon realize that the young lady is indeed glad to know him.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

We are twins in our early teens. We love two sisters very much and would like to know if you would advise us to propose marriage. Do you think it is right to kiss a girl's good night? Is it proper to buy the girls costly presents?

IKE AND MIKE: You are far too young to think of proposing marriage. That will come when you are able to shoulder life's responsibilities and burdens. In the meantime why not continue a pleasant friendship, for such, I am sure, that it must be between two brothers and two sisters. It is not correct to give the girls costly presents. I am sure that they will appreciate simple little gifts, such as candy or a good book, equally well.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

While I was swimming one night a boy friend of mine took my slipper and put it in the water. After that I felt rather mad at him, although I would talk to him, but I continue to talk with him?

ELECTION LAW CHANGES ASKED

Convention Plan Urged in Proposed Code.

NEWELL, W. Va., Nov. 2.—Major party candidates would be nominated at party conventions under a revision of the primary law incorporated in the proposed new state code by the joint legislative committee, which yesterday submitted a report of its findings to Governor W. G. Conley at Charleston.

Other changes recommended for consideration at the special session of the legislature Governor Conley has indicated he will call this month include revision of the section dealing with corporations and a proposed revision in marriage license regulations that would require a physical examination for the man.

Emphasizing his statement that the revised primary law, as proposed, would not abolish the primary, Judge James A. Meredith, chairman of the committee, said under its provisions a state-wide primary would be held on the second Tuesday in July before each election instead of in May in presidential years and August in off years.

"At that primary," Judge Meredith said, "county, magisterial district and school district officers or candidates are nominated but no other candidates. At that same primary delegates are elected to county party conventions, two delegates being named from each voting precinct. These delegates meet county conventions and select delegates to the state, congressional district, senatorial district and judicial circuit conventions and those conventions nominate their respective candidates."

RUTH TAYLOR in "THE COLLEGE COQUETTE"—A COLUMBIA PRODUCTION

All the incidents that linger in the memory long after graduation make college days the happiest in a person's whole life have been caught by the camera. The thrill of the football skirmish, the rooting of the home team, the practice matches, the training in the gym, the fellow who got "peevy" with his chum for cutting in on him when he was dancing with his best girl, the "razzing" of freshmen and the initiation into the mysteries of college life and the various Frats, are included as back-grounds for an appealing drama of the friendship of two girls and the boys they each admire. Gloria Swanson Comes to American

Gloria Swanson's voice, object of greater anticipation among motion picture fans than any other voice in filmdom, is heard for the first time in "The Trespasser," her latest United Artists picture, which comes to the American theater Monday.

Miss Swanson both sings and talks in this new opus. Her spoken lines are the more effective because "The Trespasser" is a play of modern life constructed to meet the requirements of the new screen medium, rather than a story designed to a silent picture, into which dialogue has been injected.

Her singing likewise is expected to be more highly appreciated because the two songs she offers interpret the mood of the story and sustain its tempo, instead of disrupting its trend of thought.

In addition to serving as the medium of her vocal debut, "The Trespasser" presents Miss Swanson once again as a woman of fashion, with a wardrobe of gowns, wraps and negligees which are ultra modern in every detail.

Its setting is Chicago; its environment, the "smart set." And through its intimate study of a girl who becomes a trespasser in this restricted social sphere and in the lives of its people, the story delves into vital affairs of life.

Miss Swanson, in her portrayal of "Marion Donnell," is supported by established players of both stage and screen. The leading man is Robert Ames, who has been extremely popular on Broadway. He portrays "Jack Merrick" whose romance with "Marion Donnell" indelibly stamps her as "The Trespasser."

"College Coquette" Campus Life Story

A cross section of college life is graphically portrayed in Columbia's all-talking drama of the campus, entitled "The College Coquette," at the Ceramic theater on Monday.

All the incidents that linger in the memory long after graduation and serve to make college days the happiest in a person's whole life have been caught by the camera. The thrill of the football skirmish, the rooting for the home team, the practice matches, the training in the gym, the fellow who got "peevy" with his chum for cutting in on him when he was dancing with his best girl, the "razzing" of freshmen and the initiation into the mysteries of college life and the various Frats, are included as back-grounds for an appealing drama of the friendship of two girls and the boys they each admire.

Under the direction of George Archambault, "The College Coquette," is reported to be one of the most natural campus pictures to reach the screen. The location sequences were taken at Occidental college in California and in many of them the students and faculty participate giving an atmosphere impossible to obtain otherwise.

Ruth Taylor has the title role and makes an ideal coquette. Her friend of the "clinging vine" type is portrayed by Jobyna Ralston. The masculine section of the school is headed by William Collier, Jr., as a pupil and John Holland as coach.

The Tax Limit Amendment

What it is!

Why it's needed!

How it will help!

What is the Tax Limit Amendment? It is a proposal to put in the State Constitution, a section which will limit the tax on real estate, and all other property taxed according to value, to 15 mills, or $1.50 per hundred dollars. This rate can be raised only by vote of the people in the district affected.

It further proposes to permit a flexible rate on all personal property such as furniture, machinery, stocks, bonds, mortgages, etc.—a rate which will be fair and just instead of the present tyrannical one.

Why

is the Tax Limit Amendment Needed? It is needed because, under our present tax system, $\frac{1}{4}$ of Ohio's wealth pays $\frac{3}{4}$ of Ohio taxes— $\frac{3}{4}$ of Ohio's wealth pays but $\frac{1}{4}$ of Ohio taxes.

Some property is now taxed twice—as in the case of real estate where the land is taxed and the mortgage is also taxed. Some property is even taxed three or four times—as in the case of an automobile which is taxed for gas, for license tags, as personal property, and, when bought on time, the chattel mortgage is also taxed.

Yet, our present tax system which permits this, also drives fifteen billion dollars ($15,000,000,000.00) worth of property—an amount nearly equal to the National debt—into hiding or out of the state, because the owners cannot afford to pay the uniform rule's ruinous taxes.

Our present tax system is called the "Uniform Rule." It was a good system when it was adopted in 1851—ten years before the Civil War. Today it is neither good nor fair.

How

will the Tax Limit Amendment help? It will correct the injustice and abuses that are due to our present system by making it possible to:

- 1 End Double Taxation. Under the present so-called "Uniform Rule" both land and mortgages are taxed to their full value. The home owner ultimately pays both taxes.
- 2 Limit Taxes on Homes, Land and Buildings. It proposes to put a tax limit of 15 mills on real estate, and all other property taxed according to value. This will prevent the legislature from constantly raising the limit as has been done for the past eighteen years.
- 3 Give Home Rule on Taxing. The 15 mill limit on land and all other property taxed according to value can only be exceeded by vote of the people. The tax payers can thus tell the tax spenders how much money they may have.
- 4 Enable Ohio Farms and Industries To Compete Advantageously with Those of Other States. The present so-called "Uniform Rule" places an unjust tax burden on the farmer, manufacturer and business institutions. This can never be changed under the present law.
- 5 Allow Ohio Money To Be Used Honestly In Ohio. With an average tax rate of $2.15 per $100.00, Ohio money now just naturally goes into hiding or leaves the state. As a result there is less money in Ohio and interest rates are high.

Who is for the Tax Limit Amendment?

The organizations at the right whose members make up over 1,000,000 taxpayers in the state are backing the Tax Limit Amendment.

The Tax Limit Amendment will put the tax situation back in the hands of the taxpayers themselves.

When and Where will this Tax Limit Amendment be decided? The voters of Ohio will decide on the Tax Limit Amendment at the polls on November 5th.

If you believe in justice and equality in taxation—

SLAYER OF AKRON POLICEMAN DIES WITH SMILE ON LIPS

NEWSPAPER MAN FAINTS AT EXECUTION

Arthur Maul, 24, Expires Crime in "Chair."

SAYS GOODBYE

"How is it Going Tonight?" He Asks Detective.

By John J. Vincent.
COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 2.—(INS.)—With a bleeding heart and the word "mother" tattooed on his chest, 24-year-old Arthur Maul expired his crime of first degree murder in the electric chair at the Ohio State penitentiary here last night.

The weighty and impressive silence of the death chamber was broken by the heavy thud of a fallen body when a newspaper man fainted.

Maul died with a smile on his lips and after taking a light-hearted leave of the world.

Shows No Emotion.

"How is it going, tonight?" he asked W. W. Mathis, a Summit county detective, who had been instrumental in bringing about the arrest of the doomed man for the murder of Patrolman William Grebs in Akron on May 6, last.

Maul's voice did not quaver or show any signs of emotion. But when Mathis answered "pretty fine," the county detective had to clear his throat with a slight cough.

As the slayer entered the death chamber between two guards, who were attired in the regular prison blue, Maul saw Rev. William Denton, an Akron mission worker. He walked over to the minister and shook hands. "Goodbye, pal," he mumbled.

The 2,200 volts of electricity was sent through his body at 7:33 o'clock and he was officially pronounced dead eight minutes later.

Three different charges of current crashed through him, with a crackling, sizzling whine.

Thin wisps of smoke curled up from the electron strapped to his right leg, and when the death charge hit his body, he stiffened convulsively.

Calmer Man Ever Executed

Of course his face was hidden by that black, slit mask, which is so symbolic of death, but one could imagine that smile still playing about his features.

He was the calmest man to be executed for some time. Men either go weakly and stumbling to the chair or objecting and cursing their fate, though few take the latter course.

A drizzling rain seemed to throw a dampness over the death chamber and the atmosphere was heavy. Many in that sober-faced semi-circle of witnesses broke out into a sweat during those eight minutes which seemed like a half hour to many.

It was the first time in 101 electrocutions that it had rained.

"Ready to Go," His Farewell.

In an interview on the afternoon of his death, Maul declared: "I'm ready to go. There's no help for it. Thank everyone for me. There's no use crying. I don't look like I'm crying, do I?"

His last meal consisted of veal chops, creamed peas, sweet corn, coffee and ice cream. It was a menu of his own choice. He asked for near-beer and it was supplied. When he asked for a second bottle, it was brought, but it remained untouched when he left the death chamber.

A last minute plea to the governor, which was made by his father and his sister, Emily, both of Akron, had failed to save him.

He was attired in a blue coat, black trousers and a white shirt, fastened together by a somewhat soiled and unpressed tie.

The 24-year-old youth had been a cell-mate of Dr. James Howard Snook, 49, former Ohio State university professor, who is scheduled "to go out" on the day after Thanksgiving for the hammer-and-knife slaying of Miss Theora Hix, 24, then a college co-ed.

Federal Dry Raider

Guilty of Killing

CHANDLER, Okla., Nov. 2.—(INS.)—Jeff Harris, 65, who accompanied a federal prohibition agent on a liquor raid near Tecumseh, Okla., last July 4, today was found guilty of first degree manslaughter in connection with the killing of two farmers during the raids.

Sentence was left to the will of the court by the district court jury which returned the verdict after 17 hours deliberation.

Harris was charged with murder. The two men slain during the fruitless raid were Jame Harris, owner of the farm, and his brother-in-law, Oscar Lowery.

The conviction carries a sentence of from four to 99 years imprisonment.

The speaker suggested that each man present be a hero to some boy. In a recent test, he said, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh led the rest as the hero of boys in America.

President Hoover was second, but most boys, he declared, will say that their father is the greatest living hero. "It takes a real man to be a father—a hero, to his own son," Carlson said.

D. L. Moody Speaks

In Baptist Church

Stressing the need for consecration on the part of the adherents of Christianity and deprecating the prevailing lack of devotion, D. L. Moody, song leader and soloist at the First Baptist church revival, called upon his hearers last night to search their hearts. Accordingly a period of prayer preceded the Rev. A. H. O'Brien's sermon upon the subject, "Repentance."

Announcement was made that Mr. Moody would speak at the morning service on Sunday, while the Rev. Mr. O'Brien, the pastor, will deliver the evening sermon when his subject will be "Times of Refreshing."

At both services, Claude Kelly, who with Mr. Moody, is from Columbus, will sing and aid as accompanist.

At Nazarene Church.

Outwardly loaded with possessions while inwardly they are spiritual paupers is the real condition of many in the world today, the Rev. Theodore Elsner, Brooklyn evangelist, said at the First Nazarene church revival, St. Clair avenue, last night. His subject was "The Tragedy of the Successful Man."

A crowded edifice greeted the evangelist. In attendance for the second time during the present series of meetings was the Radio Male quartet, of Canton. They contributed several numbers, augmenting the congregational singing which was directed by Mrs. Elsner.

The meetings will close on next Sunday, it was announced by the pastor, the Rev. O. L. Benedum. The Rev. Mr. Elsner will preach twice. His morning theme will be "The Mountaineer Christian" and his concluding message will be given in the evening when his subject will be "The Effect of Living."

The song services tomorrow will be led by Mrs. Elsner, who will also speak to the members of the Sunday school in the morning.

John W. Vodrey

As a candidate for the School Board, only consented to become a candidate after repeated solicitations on the part of a number of sincere friends of our public school.

They believed his experience as a successful business man—having been president of The Citizens' National bank, president of the Vodrey Pottery company and for over 40 years a director and now vice president of the Potters' Savings & Loan company—would assure our schools the best possible service. Having now retired from active business, they felt he could give the business of our schools more attention than the average member and that his life of integrity, ability and activity would commend him to every voter in the school district.

He finally consented to become a candidate and make the sacrifice of time and service if the voters decided they wanted him. For the good of our schools, we ask your vote for him.

PROS FACE NEW CASTLE SQUAD HERE SUNDAY

Pennsy Combine Strong

Beat Youngstown Eagles by Two Touchdowns.

In good physical trim despite their strenuous battle with the championship West View eleven of Pittsburgh last week, the East Liverpool Pros wound up practice sessions last night for their battle here tomorrow with the Penn State Service team of New Castle, Pa.

The game is scheduled for 2:30 o'clock on the Sherwood gridiron. The Pros have but one mark on their record to date, and that will reflect but little against the ability of the Carney combine, administered as it was by the strong West View eleven.

That they won't be taking on anything soft in the New Castle combine is indicated by the fact that the Pennsylvanians took over the Youngstown Eagles by a larger score than the locals.

In a recent game, the Mahoning countains bowed to New Castle crew by two touchdowns. And a one-touchdown margin was the best the Pottery could get in their clash with the lodgement.

The West View eleven holds a 7-0 victory over the Pros' Sunday opponents, a fact which would further indicate the New Castle team's strength.

Few changes, if any, will be made in the local lineup for tomorrow's engagement.

KISKI'S STAR

Captain Vuchinich, of Kiski, proved himself one of the outstanding scholastic football players of the district when Kiski recently defeated Carnegie Tech freshmen at Pittsburgh. He scored both of Kiski's touchdowns, gained ground on line plunges every time it was needed, took most of Kiski's forward passes, threw several himself, one of which gained 35 yards, broke up Tech's aerial game by intercepting four consecutive passes in one quarter, captained the team and called the signals—all in one game.

He has been one of Kiski's most spectacular performers all season. He will lead the team against the Army and the Navy piebels.

Midland Reserves Winners

Defeat Potter Seconds In Tilt Here, 12-7.

Midland high Reserves defeated the local school seconds yesterday afternoon at Patterson Field, 12 to 7.

The Midlanders had an edge in the first half, scoring a touchdown in the opening quarter on a long forward pass and line plunges. Needs carrying the ball. The visitors counted again in the second period, Milkovich blocking Hall's punt and carrying the ball across the line.

The Pottery took the upper hand in the last half but were unable to overcome the two-touchdown margin. Rose scored the East Liverpool touchdown when he intercepted a Midland forward pass and ran 50 yards to the goal.

Play took place largely in the visitors' territory in the final period.

Milkovich, Spisak, Needs and High starred for the visitors. Rose, R. Hall, Coleman and Herbert were outstanding for the Pottery.

Edwards Brothers On Card

Fred, Dick Will Appear in Valley A. C. Bouts.

In one of the most unique cards he has arranged to date, Matchmaker Ray Foutts of the Valley A. C., will present two brothers on the same bill, Fred Edwards, Chester welterweight, and Dick Edwards, the younger, together with Ted Yaross, Monaca sensation, next Thursday night in the city hall auditorium, Wellsville.

Fred Edwards is paired off with George Peck, of Pittsburgh, in the eight-round main event.

Yaross, the Monaca junior welter, faces Carl Patron, of Canton, in the six-round semifinal.

Dick Edwards appears in a four-spot with Rosy Pelosi of Benwood, Pa., while the other four-rounder will feature Joey Long, Alliance school boy, who made a big hit with fans here on a recent appearance. Long will tackle Andy Geant, Cantonian.

In addition, Foutts is arranging a curtain raiser to start off the program.

The main event marks another step forward in fistie ranks for Edwards who to date has gone undefeated in more than a score of battles.

Peck has mingled with all of the good ones in Pittsburgh, including Profie when he was at his best, in view of which he rates away ahead of anyone else that Edwards has tackled during his career.

While quite a few of Edwards' opponents have been more or less unknown quantities, Peck is a known boxer. He has an established reputation in the Pittsburgh district, good enough in his own division there to warrant him top positions in most of the boxing bills around Pittsburgh.

Air Play Ohio's Chief Weapon In Pitt Battle

Both Elevens in Smoky City Fray Boast Strong Defenses; Pitt Conceded Edge on Offense.

By H. T. HOPKINS.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 2.—Presage the outcome of the gridiron clash between Ohio State and Pittsburgh here this afternoon? No thanks, not for this writer, who prognosticated that the Buckeyes would beat the Hoosiers from Indiana last Saturday by four touchdowns.

One thought, a week ago, he had a little bit to go on when it came to making a prediction. But there's no means of comparison today, intersectional contest as this shall be. Neither team has come with in a mile of meeting an opponent of the other. Pitt has run up scores this season which sum up 184, in five straight victories, with no ties. The enemies of the Panthers have been held to 21 points, said 21 being principally due to second-stringers in Jock Sutherland's lineups.

Ohio's total of points annexed this year is 33. However, it is significant that the Buckeyes have held their opponents to six markers. That should be considered as a mitigating factor in an attempt to "dope" the outcome of today's struggle.

Ohio, though its showing doesn't merit it, nevertheless is "tied" at the top of the Western conference. Pittsburgh likely deserves to be universally conceded as one of the outstanding elevens in the country, judging from its record last year and because it has a veteran team now. It is one of the three major eastern teams which have neither been licked nor tied. Pitt is second, to Dartmouth, in amassed scores, with its 184. And reserves have done most of the work.

To reiterate, it is significant that only six points have been chalked up against the Scarlet and Gray. So there is hope for the fans over in the neighboring state today that the gladiators who carry most of the time in the "big horseshoe" won't be humiliated. With horseshoes on their shoes instead of cleats and mediocre as they have been, offensively—and even defensively, during lapses, in their games to date, one must doff the old chapeau to the Buckeyes when their backs have been impelled against the goal. So, Pitt shouldn't defeat the boys from the Ohio capital by anything approaching a disgracing score.

Unless Ohio's aerial stunts click, as they have, now and then this season. The Blue and Gold's final marker likely will not be crossed today. If the writer's information is correct, not one first down has been recorded against the gladiators of this Smoky City this year. The Panthers went through the 1928 season by holding its opponents to the almost unbelievable total of only seven first downs. And its 1928 forward wall is almost intact today.

If the crimson and gray performers do get their overhead system functioning as it has flashed previous to the Indiana game, they might score, for the local lads have evinced a weakness, up to date, when it comes to breaking up forward passes.

Whether or no, notwithstanding and howsoever, Ohio State is the under dog in these parts at the moment, and, in all probability, will be dragging its tail out of the stadium here about the time the shadows begin to commence to fall.

Whatever the score, the writer predicts the Buckeyes will start back to their hotel with their heads up and eyes front—for William's men do know one thing—how to fight a good fight when their goal line is endangered.

Fumbles Cause of Disputes

THE high school eleven is not the only valley team which has suffered, apparently, from peculiar interpretations of the fumbled ball ruling.

The Pottery got a tough break, it will be remembered, in the Bellaire game a week ago when Dairyville grabbed at a loose ball on the Bellaire 10-yard line, hit it with his fingers, causing it to bounce to the two-yard line, where he fell on it. The referee ruled it back to the 10-yard line, claiming he had possession of it there.

Now Toronto is filing a protest with the rules committee of the Ohio High School Athletic association on a decision during the Toronto-Follansbee game recently.

The protest came as a result of a ruling by the referee in the last quarter of the game. Follansbee had blocked a Toronto punt and the ball rolled back to about a foot from the goal line and was recovered by Follansbee. On the following play, Follansbee's fullback fumbled the ball in his attempt to cross the line, and the ball rolled over the goal. Bradford, Toronto's right half back pounced upon the ball and ran it back to the 3 yard line before he was tackled.

The ruling says that a fumble is dead on the point of recovery, that is, an opposing side gets the ball.

The referee claimed that the Follansbee man fumbled the ball after he crossed the goal, and that the score was legal.

Toronto authorities protested on the ground that the Follansbee fullback was not in complete possession of the ball, and that he was hit by Toronto's secondary defense on the line of scrimmage and did not cross the goal line at all with the ball. They further protested that the ball had hit him in the chest and rolled over, and did not go more than a foot beyond the goal. They claimed that the referee was not in a position to see the man at the instant that he crossed the line, for he was behind Follansbee at the time that the incident occurred. They went on further to say that the referee did not blow his whistle, when the man was supposed to have crossed the line. The referee asserted that he did.

Chuck Wertz Finds Niche At Quarter

Bishops Strengthened By Campbell, Carlisle.

DELAWARE, O., Nov. 2.—Charles "Chuck" Wertz, Toledo, fleet and shifty back on the Ohio Wesleyan football team, has come into his own at last. After playing at Scott high school at half-back and spending two more years at the same position at Ohio Wesleyan, Wertz was shifted to quarterback two weeks ago and demonstrated against Miami and Western Reserve that he is one of the best the Bishops have had.

Wertz will be at quarterback for the Bishops when they meet Denison at Granville today and will continue to call signals during remainder of the season.

Coach George Gauthier ordinarily does not expect his quarterback to do much ball carrying but Wertz will be an exception to the rule since he is the most elusive runner on the Bishop squad. He is doing much of Wesleyan's punting and is a capable forward passer also.

For the first time since the Ohio university game, Ervin Carlisle, Columbus, midget quarterback, will be ready for action against Denison and is expected to alternate with Wertz. The Bishops will be further reinforced for the Denison game by return of Roderick Campbell, Bellefontaine, from the hospital. Campbell has played only in the Marietta game and has had little opportunity to display his ability as a punter, passer, and ball carrier.

Wesleyan's clash with Denison Saturday will be the thirty-third game between these traditional rivals. The Bishops met Denison first in 1891 and have played them more frequently than any other team. Ohio Wesleyan has won 21 of the 32 games played to date and two have been ties.

Coach Gauthier's regime at Wesleyan has been disastrous for Denison for only once since "the little giant" came to Delaware have the Baptists won and that was in 1921, his first year as Bishop coach.

Tiger, Maroon Teams Renew Grid Warfare

Old Foes Meet for First Time Since 1922.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 2.—Princeton and Chicago were to meet on the football field today for the first time since that memorable afternoon in 1922 when a supposedly toothless Tiger went stark mad in the closing minutes of play to wrest victory from a powerful Maroon eleven.

This afternoon the situation is not far from the reverse. The Tiger, possessed of a full set of teeth sharpened by the rasping remarks of Bill Roper, seemed ready to begin its usual late-season capers of destruction. Facing this fast-arriving Tiger will be a Chicago team that already has bowed three times to mid-western foes—a team that boasts no outstanding star and further handicapped by injuries.

Offsetting this to some extent is the belief that Princeton considers today's affair as just another day before Yale while old man Stagg and his man have been seeing orange and black spots before their eyes since the season started. It has become more than a rumor that Stagg took the Purdue licking with a serene smile on his face, having utilized the boiler-makers game for perfecting a new offense to be unleashed against Princeton. Added to this is the fact that Princeton performs best when rated as the under-dog.

Despite the rather indifferent showing of the teams so far, 35,000 are expected to be in the stands.

FAVOR MIDDIES IN PENN GAME

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 2.—More than 70,000 football fans will be in the stands here today when Pennsylvania and Navy meet for the fourteenth time.

Despite the fact that Penn has lost only one game while the Navy has lost one and tied one, the Midshipmen ruled 8 to 5 favorites in the pregame betting. The heavier and more experienced Navy line is expected to prove too strong for the lighter Red and Blue forward wall.

Neither team will come to Philadelphia until a few hours before game time.

Electors to Mark Five Ballots Here

Municipal, Board of Education and Township Tickets, as Well as Tax Proposal and School Levy to be Submitted.

WELLSVILLE, O., Nov. 2.—Five ballots, including municipal, township, school levy and board of education, will be marked by Wellsville electors at next Tuesday's election.

The election of municipal officers apparently lacks the interest which has characterized the pre-election period in former years, due chiefly to the fact that there is a scarcity of opposition in a majority of the races.

Republican nominees for mayor, president of council, auditor, treasurer and solicitor face the election without fear of opposition from Democratic opponents.

Four, however, are seeking three places as councilman-at-large and Republican ward councilmen are opposed in every instance save in the third ward.

Two board of education members seek re-election without opposition.

But, on the township ticket the race promises to be lively with eight potential constables in a fight for two jobs.

Electors will ballot also on the proposed renewal of the school levy and the state tax limit amendment.

Tickets follow:

Republican.
Mayor—George Hardman.
President of council—Clyde Baker.

Auditor—Fred Eckfeld.
Treasurer—Clarence Scott.
Solicitor—Raymond Knepper.

Council, first ward—Fred Lowery.
Council, second ward—C. S. Pet.

Council, third ward—Ted Swearingin.
Council, fourth ward—William B. Nicholson.

Council-at-large—William Haugh, R. H. Keay and John Reil.

Democratic.
Council, first ward—M. L. Clendenning.
Council, second ward—John Grafton.

Council, fourth ward—R. B. Russell.
Council-at-large—J. S. Burnett.

Township Ticket (two to elect).
For constable — William Fultz, Morgan O. McIntire, A. W. Oyster, Benjamin F. Travers, W. E. Andrews, Harry B. Culp, W. J. (Bill) Culp, John W. Duncan.

Board of Education Ticket.

COLLEGE MUSIC TO BE UNIFIED

BOSTON — With a view of unifying all the musical activities of the ten colleges in Boston University, President Daniel Marsh has directed that a varsity musical organization be established.

Dean John P. Marshall, of the College of Music has been appointed head of the varsity musical plan and other officers are to be announced.

All college choirs, orchestras and glee clubs, essentially individual groups, will continue their functions as the favor of their separate school decides, according to President Marsh.

Nine hours sleep, four hours off duty every day, and special inspectors for food and sleeping accommodations will be compulsory for all domestic servants in Germany if a bill to go before the next German parliament becomes a law.
